Rho Kappa Social Studies Honor Society presents This Day in History:

On this day, James Marshall discovered gold along the banks of Sutter's Creek in California, sparking the gold rush that would change the American West forever. While excavating land to install a sawmill, Marshall found small flakes of gold and rushed to tell John Sutter. Together, the two quietly tried to gather as much as they could, but failed to contain the secret. Thousands of men from all over the world threw away their livelihoods to try their hand at striking rich. (1848) (Greco 1/24)
