The Rho Kappa Social Studies Honor Society presents This Day in History:

On this day, in 1848, Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels published The Communist Manifesto. In it, Marx predicted a worldwide revolution. He expressed that history was a series of class struggles that would ultimately end with the overthrow of the bourgeoisie (the ruling class) by the proletariat (the working classes). This work would be the basis for the Communist Party. (End Date: 2/21/20 Greco)
