Chelsea's Light Quote of the Day:

You can't go back and change the beginnings, but you can start where you are and change the ending.
-C. S. Lewis

genial (adj.) friendly, affable (n.) flattery intended to persuade

Attention all scholars:

Please check out the Weekly Wellness Newsletter created by The Preuss School counselors.

Attention all students: April is National Poetry Month! Please enjoy a poem each day in the bulletin in order to celebrate this wonderful thing that is poetry! Happy reading!

Grammar Lesson

A noun's a thing. A verb's the thing it does.
An adjective is what describes the noun.
In "The can of beets is filled with purple fuzz"

of and with are prepositions. The's
an article, a can's a noun,
a noun's a thing. A verb's the thing it does.

A can can roll—or not. What isn't was or might be, might meaning not yet known.
"Our can of beets is filled with purple fuzz"

is is present tense. While words like our and us are pronouns—i.e. it is moldy, they are icky brown.
A noun's a thing; a verb's the thing it does.

Is is a helping verb. It helps because filled isn't a full verb. Can's what our owns in "Our can of beets is filled with purple fuzz."

See? There's almost nothing to it. Just memorize these rules...or write them down!
A noun's a thing, a verb's the thing it does.
The can of beets is filled with purple fuzz.
-Steve Kowit
